Improving Quality of Life

With thorough evaluation and an unparalleled, multifaceted approach to treatment,

Dr. Shoemaker and her dedicated integrative care team are able to assist with the resolution of many difficult and non-responsive health, soundness and behavioral issues in both large and small animals.

We strive to be Always Helpful!

Welcome to Always Helpful!

Integrative care can help set the foundation for a lifetime of good health. It can improve performance, and maintain physical and emotional balance, so you and your pet can spend more quality years together. It's essential to detect issues early, before they become more serious – and more expensive.

For chronic diseases such as arthritis, immune mediated disorders, food and skin allergies, COPD, complex sports medicine issues, laminitis and cancer

Always Helpful Veterinary Services

Mission Statement

We are creating awareness and understanding of balance as the key factor in improving quality of life — and in the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of health problems of animals and people.

This practice is a prototype for a permanent paradigm change in medical thought and application throughout the world.

We accomplish this mission through personal and professional practice, education, and research.
